A STORMY VOYAGE.

A New York dispatch says: The ship Emily Reed, which arrived at the foot of Court street, Erie basin, on Friday, had a very rough voyage around Cape Horn. She left San Francisco in the latter part of August for Brazil, laden with wheat. She met with fair weather until she reached the neighborhood of the Horn, where heavy gales and trade winds were encountered, and for four days the decks were washed by heavy seas, which broke over her. While off the Falklands the waves stove in the deck-house and washed it overboard. Six men and all the cooking utensils were in the deckhouse. They were swept away and lost. This left only four men to man the ship, and the next morning two more men were washed overboard. Captain Sheldon stuck to his post throughout the storm, and finally the ship reached Rio, where after depositing her cargo, the captain shipped a new crew and sailed for Brooklyn in ballast. The first mate reports that the captain and what was left of the erew suffered greatly from lack of fire and food. The stove and everything belonging the kitchen was washed overboard. After a great deal of rummaging an old pot was found in a forward locker, and a small stove which was in the captain's cabin was put into use, and with this they cooked their meagre meal.

Full Report of the Various Events-Windy Day for Shooting.

The tenth semi-annual meeting of the Hawaiian Rifle Association took place at the new range, Kaauhika, New Year's Day. The shooting commenced early, and throughout the day there were a great number present. Despite the heavy wind which was blowing all day, at times increasing to a gale, some remarkably good scores were made. Mr. T. E. Wall officiated as officer of the day. The shooting for the Mid-range Championship was unavoidably postponed on account of the boisterous weather.

A NOBLE VESSEL.

Latest Production of the Hall Brothers.

The new bark Albert, 648 tons register, was docked at the Fort street wharf Wednesday. Captain J. C. M. Winding, her skipper, was busy all day showing visitors interested in marine architecture all over his craft. The cabin is spacious and airy, and is elegantly finished in birdseye maple, mahogany and other hard woods. The designs are plain but arranged with artistic taste. Captain Winding's stateroom is neatly furnished. Adjoining it is the sitting room. The dining room has accommodations for eight pas-has accommodations for eight passengers. There are four double-berth staterooms supplied with modern conveniences.

The chief officer's room is also nicely furnished. The pantry is a model of neatness. The galley in the forward part of the ship contains the donkey-engine, kitchen and berths for steerage passengers, and in front of it is the forecastle. The main deck is very wide, so wide that it can be suitably used at any time for dancing and other amusements.

The hull of the vessel is strongly built and skippers and marine experts think she is the strongest vessel built for the Hawaiian sugar and sel built for the Hawaiian sugar and lumber trade. The masts are lofty, giving them a majestic appearance. It is undertood that the Hall Brothers of Port Blakely, who built her, claim her the finest and most thoroughly finished vessel that ever left their docks, and those who have seen this superb vessel will agree with that opinion. As to the model, there is a difference of opinion, some saying that the Forest Queen is a better model.

The Albert is owned by Messrs. H. Hackfeld & Co., who have expended about $53,000 in her construction. Her carrying capacity is 750,000 feet of lumber. Her sailing capacities are superior. Captain Winding stated that he passed all the vessels he had met. All are glad to welcome this new and handsome addition to the fleet of Hawaiian traders.
